HERZOG STARS AT THE BAT

In Second, Fourth and Eighth He Figures in Four of New York's Six Runs

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON, Oct. 9.—With the score 6 to 6, the second game of the world series was called at the end of the eleventh inning on account of darkness. The game will be played off at Boston tomorrow.

Boston led 4 to 2 almost from the first. In the eighth the Giants made three runs and the Sox one, tying the score. Collins gave way to Hall, who lasted until the eleventh, when Bedient went in. Mathewson went all the way for the Giants. Both teams scored in the tenth, leaving it a tie. Nothing doing in the eleventh.

Herzog was the hero of the game, his work in the second, fourth and eighth innings contributing to four of New York's six runs.

Things broke for the Red Sox in the first inning, three scores garnered off from Matty's delivery on two singles and a costly error by Fletcher which should have been a double play.

Herzog's triple in the second counted when Meyer sent him home with a smashing hit down the third base line that hit Gardner in the face and laid him away for a moment. Again, in the fourth, after

Murray had tripled, Herzog scored him with a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth Boston came back for its fourth run. With one gone Hooper singled and scored when Yerkes tripled.

The game was tied up in the eighth when the Giants got to Collins for two runs, chasing him from the box, and then took another off Hall, who was substituted. Again it was Herzog who did the business, driving in two of the three runs with a double. The trouble started when Lewis dropped Snodgrass' fly. Doyle's single advanced Snodgrass to second but Becker forced Doyle at second. Murray's double scored Snodgrass, and Stahl yanked Collins and sent Hall to the slab, whereupon Herzog doubled, scoring Murray and Becker. In Boston's half Lewis doubled and scored on Gardner's single, tying the score. The ninth produced no runs, and the game went into the extra inning.

FENWAY PARK, Boston, Mass., Oct. 9.—As the Giant legion swung out across the field at Fenway park today at 10:15, Boston fans gazed at once in the direction of Mathewson, the big gun picked in advance to fire his shrapnel into the charging Red Sox attack. For New York it was: Mathewson or—good night. While all Boston was confident after Teasdale's fall there was still something in that name—Christy Mathewson—which suggested a real battle whoever might be the victor.

So Boston watched the old war horse come on, head up, easy swinging stride, keen eyes instantly alert to the vast expanse of battlefield, where any long, smashing hit meant three bases or the circuit. The Fenway field is deeper from every angle than the Polo grounds.

Weather Cool.

The morning sun changed at noon to a gray day and a sniffling wind came from the northeast, predicting colder weather. Yet the Red Sox legion was at work by noon—two hours before play. The first batch, composed of Speaker, Lewis, Wagner and Gardner, lost no time in getting down to the main business at hand. Each grabbed a deadly-looking mace and began whaling the ball, driving vicious swings.

The Giants pounded through the gates a little later. In parallel lines they pegged the missile back and forth, warming up easily and slowly in the sunless air.

The cultured Boston fandom was evidently less wildly enthusiastic than that of New York, and at 1:30 p. m. there were still large vacant patches in the unreserved sections of the bleachers. It was a quiet, undemonstrative crowd. The grandstands filled slowly but gave early indications of a greater popularity of the national sport among the women of the Hub than was displayed at the Polo grounds yesterday.

Is Marquard Day.

BECKER JURY IS ALL BENEDICTS

Most Intelligent Homicide Panel in Decade Is Description of Jurors

MEN OF ABILITY DEMANDED

Defendant Insisted that Only Those Above the Average Be Allowed to Sit in Case

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The most intelligent jury sworn to try a homicide case here since the noted ordeal of Roland B. Molineaux, a decade ago, was that which was sworn in today to try Police Lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal. Every man who passed the scrutiny of counsel for both sides and the final analysis of the accused policeman himself was far above the average of the usual juror in ability. As in the Molineaux trial the defense insisted that the men selected should be able to act and think independently. In addition to this every man is married, this being one of the things Becker positively insisted on and he declared when court opened today that he was well satisfied with the men chosen.

FIGHT HATCHET DUEL

VIENNA, Oct. 9.—An extraordinary duel between a man and wife armed with hatchets is reported from Volosca.

The pair, named Pilevitch, locked themselves in their kitchen. The woman severely wounded her husband in the head; he chopped off his wife's arm and finally shattered her skull, killing her. Crawling to a window he told passers-by what had happened and expired.

STATE OF WAR EXISTS

Dispatches Indicate Hostilities Are Due to Commence in the Near Future

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Following Montenegro's example it was reported here that Greece has recalled its minister from Constantinople. Greek Bulgarian and Servian declarations of war against Turkey were momentarily expected.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Servia and Bulgaria have severed diplomatic relations with Turkey, according to a dispatch received by the Exchange Telegraph company from Paris this afternoon. The Exchange correspondent adds that a state of war exists.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The Greek minister left Constantinople today, according to a dispatch received by a French news agency. The Bulgarian and Servian ministers were expected to leave this afternoon.

HOLD COMMUNION AT MISSION MEET

Many Speakers and Field Workers on Today's Program at Convention

CHILDREN RAISE $8,000

Home Missionary Work Necessary, Says Assistant Secretary Mrs. Sheets

Over 350 persons took part in the communion services held at the Methodist Episcopal convention of the Northwest branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary society, now in session at the First Methodist church, Eighth and King streets. Rev. Levi A. Brenner assisted by Rev. S. A. Bender, Rev. E. C. Dixon and Rev. W. F. Tomlinson officiated at the communion services.

Following the communion services the report of Mrs. I. B. Blackstock, treasurer, was endorsed. Mrs. Sheets, associate secretary gave an address on "Home Base" in which she compared the work of the foreign and home missionaries.

Mrs. Sheets said in part: "The home missionary work is just as important as the foreign missionary work and both hold the same relations to each other. The foreign missionary work can not succeed if the home missionary work is neglected."

Several field workers were introduced during the morning session. They confined most of their talk to the work accomplished by the young people of the northwest branch relative to home missionary work. Among the speakers were: Mrs. R. E. Humphreys, superintendent of children's work who spoke on "Work to be supported this year by the children." Mrs. William Beck, superintendent of special work, Mrs. R. E. Clark, superintendent of literature, and Mrs. C. L. Walton, superintendent of headquarters. Mrs. Humphreys when speaking on the children's work declared that the children of this branch have raised $8,000 in the last year.

The morning session adjourned at noon and the convention reconvened at 2 o'clock.

PLAN OIL STATION

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Convinced that battleship fuel in future will be oil instead of coal, the British admiralty is getting ready for the change.

Rosyth, the big naval base now building on the east coast of Scotland, is to be the principal oil depot, and incidentally, a great aviation depot. The principal Scottish refiners have been given contracts for fuel oil aggregating 200,000 tons, at 4 1/2 cents a gallon.

Measures are also being taken to protect oil storage stations from air-men, one of whom succeeded in dropping a dummy bomb into a tank only 20 feet square from 1,000 feet aloft.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Probably rain tonight followed by generally fair weather Thursday. Colder.

For Wisconsin: Rain this afternoon and tonight; thunder storms southeast portion and colder west portion; Thursday unsettled and colder.

For Minnesota: Rain or snow and colder tonight, temperature near freezing; Thursday cloudy with colder southeast portion.

For Iowa: Unsettled tonight and Thursday with showers and thunder storms east portion tonight. Colder.

The weather continues fair in the north Atlantic states but with considerable cloudiness; it is generally clear in the south Atlantic and Gulf states, and cloudy, local rain elsewhere. Heavy rain occurred last night through a narrow belt extending from southwestern Iowa, northward to lower Lake Michigan, one inch or more being recorded at Des Moines, Dubuque, Madison and Milwaukee.

The temperature has fallen to freezing or below in Montana and at most Canadian northwest stations and snow is falling this morning in Montana. It is warmer generally in the central valleys.

The eastern high is moving off the Atlantic coast and the western low covers the country from lower California, northeastward to the upper lake region. Another high is central in Alberta.

These pressure conditions indicate rain in this section this afternoon and tonight probably followed by cloudy but generally fair weather on Thursday, with lower temperature tonight and Thursday.

EXTRAVAGANCE ALLEGED BY HOOD

Says Republican State Administration Has Been Inefficient and Wasteful

STRIKES AT COMMISSIONS

Candidate Calls Madison Boards but Berths for Republican Henchmen

Sarcasm, satire and statistics, hurled at what he termed the "overwhelming extravagance of progressivism" during the last ten years of republican administration in Wisconsin, characterized the speech of C. L. Hood, candidate for the assembly, who opened the state campaign at a democratic rally in the Centennial hall last evening. Mr. Hood arraigned the republican administration of the state affairs not only on account of wasting the people's money, but also on account of inefficiency. Laws passed by the republican legislature he classified as "foolish laws, bad laws and graft laws." Offices and commissions created during the last decade he pronounced "berths for the hungry henchmen of La Follette."

Condemns Income Tax

The income tax law he condemned "not because of its method or principle of taxation, but because it is only a new scheme to extort more taxes from the people." With a shot in passing at the state University, "a parasite on the body politic which calls for ever increasing appropriations," Mr. Hood argued that "progressivism in Wisconsin has come to mean reckless expenditure of money which must be raised by the people of the state in taxes."

There were 390 appropriation acts passed by the legislature of 1911," he said. "The expense of running the state has reached $9,811,243 for a single year. I blame the legislative library commission, which was created in 1901, for much of this. This library has developed into a 'bill mill' that is costing the state more every year. When the commission was first created an appropriation of $1,500 was sufficient to run it. In 1903 it required $2,500; in 1905, $4,500; in 1907, $15,000, and in 1911, 20,000. The history of this commission is exactly like that of the others that burden this state—the fish and game commission, the industrial commission, the tuberculosis commission, the park commission and the state health commission—each and every one of which is asking for and receiving more money every year. Is it any wonder that it costs nearly $10,000,000 a year to run the state?"

Is Biggest Graft

The library commission is the biggest graft in the state. Any one of the swarm of 'hobbies' of the state can get any bill framed that he wants, if he knows enough to get solid with some member of this commission. The legislative committee will not consider a bill that is not approved by this commission and so it goes.

"These commissions were only created to give berths to the swarm of men that hang around Madison. Of course these men were all good La Follette henchmen and must be provided for. La Follette was turned down hard in Washington and was unable to help them there, so they must be foisted upon the state. The people pay their salaries and for their extravagant whims. Taxes have been raised enormously. Even though the rate continues the same in some localities they have gotten around this by raising the assessed value of property. If the big taxes, as they claim, come out of the railroad, telephone and other big public utility companies, I ask you who pays for it in the long run? The answer is, you and I. These big companies know how to shift the burden onto the people and the state commissions assist them in doing it."

Hits Industrial Commission

"The industrial commission was created as a sop to the laboring man. It is run at an expense of $75,000 a year and what is one thing they have done for the toiler? They framed the workman's compensation act which merely creates another court—one without responsibility. If a workman who is injured is not satisfied with the ruling of the industrial commission he must take his suit to the circuit court of Dane county. Will this cut down his lawyer's fees?"

"The biggest graft in the state is the University at Madison. I am not opposed to education, for education is the making of a man, but we cannot afford to spend more than $2,000,000 a year to educate men and women, many of whom come from outside the state. I do not believe that marble floors and plush cushions are necessary accessories to education. The city of Madison is the principal beneficiary of this vast expenditure of money. Property in that city has quadrupled in the last few years and they say that the rest of the state is jealous. The rest of the state has a right to be."

"The income tax law is an inequitable measure. Every manufacturer in the state will be driven out just as sure as it remains on the statute books. The exemptions are

BOARD OF TRADE AFTER NEW MEN

Membership Campaign Begins with Meeting of Membership Committee

WILL DIVIDE INTO TEAMS

Every Part of City to Be Canvassed by Squads; Boost for the City

Is this town what it ought to be?
Is it all that it could and should be?
If not, why not?
Who's keeping it back?
Who's responsible?
Isn't this town equal to the sum of all its parts?
Am I not a part?
You bet.
Then who's responsible?
I am, but
Here's my application to membership to the La Crosse Board of Trade.
Yours truly,

The membership campaign of the La Crosse board of trade will begin tomorrow when the directors, officers, membership committeemen and volunteers will meet at the La Crosse club at 9:45 and take the first steps in making a canvass of the city for new members. The members who will take part in the campaign will be divided into teams and squads. The city has already been divided into districts by J. L. Utermoehl, secretary, and each team will be allotted to a certain section of the city.

Among the members who will take part in the campaign are: William Doerflinger, president; E. S. Heberder, vice president; H. O. Klein, treasurer; J. L. Utermoehl, secretary; William F. Hurtgen, Frank Sisson, Andrew Lees, John C. Burns, C. P. Thompson, L. H. Martin, W. F. Goodrich, A. P. Funk, George Linker, William Hickisch, D. W. MacWillie, A. R. Nelson, C. J. Bitzer, J. A. Thwing, H. C. Hart, W. B. Tschern, Judge John Brindley, W. E. Barber, W. J. Ennison, J. L. Erickson, Henry J. Rooney, Charles H. Rawlinson, T. F. Lyons, Dr. E. A. Gatterdam, O. F. Figgie, Andrew Boyd, C. W. Dow and Percy D. Bentley.

Each of the members taking part in the campaign will wear a tag labeled "I Believe in La Crosse. Do You?" on one side and "La Crosse, Wis., for Me," on the other.

Support Urged

Letters have been sent broad cast throughout the city by Secretary J. Utermoehl to prospective members announcing that the committee will call upon them to solicit their membership, urging their support in booming La Crosse and telling of the work accomplished by the organization.

Secretary Utermoehl today prepared the following list of accomplishments of the board of trade within the last three years for use in the campaign:

- Some of the things accomplished in three years:
- Brought four factories employing over two hundred men to the city.
- Gave financial assistance to two home industries.
- Kept two others from moving elsewhere.
- Organized Industrial association, with a capital of $100,000.
- Brought University Extension to Brought University Extension course to city.
- Was instrumental in obtaining better health department for city.
- Advised the city.
- Entertained President Taft.
- Paved way for Auditorium.
- Assisted in investigation of express rates.
- Aided in completing last census of United States.
- Conducted 6 o'clock dinners.
- Adjusted matters pertaining to railway and mail service.
- Advocated better water system, good roads, professional baseball, six foot channel, etc.
- Entertained conventions.
- Conducted excursions, etc., etc.

FAMOUS SINGER DYING.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Jules Lumbar, celebrated singer of the civil war, whose singing the "Battle Cry of Freedom" caused thousands to join the union army, is dying at his home here of old age. Practically deserted in his poverty, the once famous basso, now 84 years old, is awaiting the end. Constantly attending Lumbar is Mrs. Mary Lumbar, 90 years old, widow of his brother Frank, who sang with him in the younger days.

The Singing of these two, Gen. Grant once said, caused 20,000 men to enlist.

President Lincoln paid them a tribute when he said that "their singing caused more men to enlist than fifty times their number of recruiting officers."

KILLED BY A THRESHER

ENGINEER STEPS INTO GEARING OF MACHINE AND IS GROUND TO DEATH

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 9.—George McHenry, engineer with a threshing crew in La Moure county, was ground to death in the gearing of his engine when he climbed to the top of the boiler to extinguish a fire in the cab.

The accident occurred at Benson Corers while the outfit was on the road. McHenry's foot slipped while he was fighting the blaze and he fell into the gearing and was ground to pieces before any one could render assistance.

He was 35 years old and lived in Illinois. He is survived by his wife and one child.

Anyway, the theory that marriages are made in heaven can't be much consolation to spinsters.

Women In Politics

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Vassar college has gone democratic. A straw vote polled by the young ladies gave Wilson 153; T. R., 141, and placed Taft third, vote unstated. The girls are enthusiastic politicians.

CHICAGO.—The North Shore Congregationalist church has been opened to political meetings. At the first gathering there Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns and Miss Ada Sweet spoke for the progressive candidate.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Blank pledges on the backs of postal cards were distributed today by democratic women who have charge of a booth at the state fair.

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—Politics was the feature of the progressive meeting here. Women and men alternated as platform speakers, women leading in the singing of campaign songs between oratorical efforts.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agent, O. T. Erhart.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS AT SCHOOL

State Positions Open to Applicants; Place for Janitor for School Annex

A stenographic and typists' examination will be held in the high school building on Monday, October 14, at 8 a. m. A room has been provided for the purpose and will be ready at the stated time.

Candidates will be admitted by application up to that time and the late candidates will be given an opportunity to fill out their applications at the examination. This examination is being given by the state civil service commission under the direction of Mr. F. E. Doty, secretary and chief examiner of the commission.

On the same date an examination will be given to the candidates for the position of janitor for the local normal school. The candidates may fill out applications at the high school where the examination will be given on the same date the examination is given.

In the practice game of football played between the high school and normal school football teams played on the normal grounds last night after school the high again defeated the pedagogues by the score of 6 to 0. The normals played the first part of the game against the high seconds and although they were unable to score on them came very close to doing so several times. The seconds line held like a stone wall when their goal was in danger but the normals were always able to gain anywhere else on the field.

When the high school regulars went in the game they rushed the ball down to the normal goal where Dickens went over center for a fluke touchdown.

A Japanese graduate of the University of Wisconsin is exhibiting a splendid lot of water color views at the high school for the next few days which were painted in Tokio. They are all characteristically Japanese and are beautiful. He is selling them for a very small charge and is working his way through school by doing so.

ELECTION BOOK SPICY READING

Republicans Take Rap at Democrats in Campaign Pamphlet to Be Issued

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 9.—The voters of the state who receive a copy of the election pamphlet, which will be mailed out this week, will find in it some spicy reading. "The special interests never sleep," is the opening sentence of the statement inserted by the republican state central committee, which declares bluntly that the special interests have captured the democratic state organization and are using its platform to further their own interests although they were repudiated in 1910 by all the political parties of the state.

The democratic party, under this changed leadership, is charged with having repudiated the income tax at its platform convention in September although the real democratic party was pledged to the principle in 1906, 1908, 1910 and again at its delegate convention in August, 1912. "And this was done," the statement continues, "notwithstanding the democratic presidential candidate, the vice presidential candidate, and the great democratic leader, William Jennings Bryan, have declared for a state income tax."

It declares that the democratic state nominees are reactionary and that the candidate for governor has an official record for subservency to the special interests. He is charged with having voted against the direct primary bill, the railroad rate regulation bill, and the railroad taxation bill, when he was a member of the legislature in 1901.

The democratic candidate for lieutenant governor is charged with having lobbied against the income tax in the session of 1911, "notwithstanding his party platform, on which he ran for the same office in 1910, expressly declared for such tax." He is also accused of having opposed the workmen's compensation act and other progressive measures, which the democratic platform of 1910 promised.

This arraignment of the opposition, which is characterized as "The undemocratic state organization," is followed by brief biographical sketches of the republican candidates, "whose legislative experience," it adds, "has familiarized them with the laws and the government system which, if elected, it will become their duty to administer." Senator La Follette is given credit for having made Wisconsin "the best governed state in the union;" the present republican candidates are pledged to maintain this "proud distinction" and Governor McGovern is praised for his firm stand for platform pledges.

A brief financial statement explains the state expenditures for the last fiscal year and accuses the democratic party, under the control of the special interests, of spreading false reports, exaggerating the cost of the state government. The actual expenditures of the state for the year ending June 30, 1912, is reported as being $7,211,944.

The banking laws, enacted by the progressive republicans, are given credit for the exceptional prosperity and soundness of our state banks, which rival those of any other state and none of which have failed since 1904. The railroad commission is reported to have effected savings amounting to $2,525,000 a year since its creation. Improved methods resulting from wise regulation have made all public service corporations more prosperous, notwithstanding the above saving to the people.

The statement contains a vigorous defense of the university and charges the special interests with being responsible for the attacks upon it. The special interests, it declares, "are opposed to everything that is progressive. They fear the light because their methods succeed best in the dark." "It costs much," says the statement, "because it does much. The annual increased wealth of the state due to the university, is many times the cost of the university to the state."

The college of agriculture is credited with being largely instrumental in making Wisconsin a great, wealthy dairy state, and with saving millions annually to farmers through its efforts in eradicating smut in oats, barley and other products, and for its development of better seed, corn, barley, rye and winter wheat.

A resume of the republican state platform closes the statement which occupies six pages of the pamphlet.

LAUNCH LOST ON LAKE IN STORM

NEENAH, Wis., Oct. 9.—Fear is felt here for the safety of John Lamshack and his son, Alex, farmers near here, who went to Clinton on the east shore of Lake Winnebago last Sunday in a launch. Sunday night they started to return during a high wind and heavy sea. Their lights were watched for ten minutes and then suddenly they disappeared. Nothing has been seen since of the men or their launch.

Disadvantages of Illiteracy.

When a soldier is confined in the guardroom for an offense, a written copy of the crime is invariably handed to the commander of the guard. A corporal having given an order, one of the men seemed disinclined to obey, when, after having rebuked him sharply, he shouted in angry tones: "It's a good job for you, me lad, that I can't spell 'insubordination' or I'd shove you in the 'clink' (guard-room) sharp."—London Weekly Telegraph.

For a Low Stool.

A low stool with a broad seat, most convenient for drying the feet, for putting on shoes and stockings, is given a touch by one housekeeper that makes it effective and sanitary. The cushion is covered with a neatly fitted slip, with square top and sides, made of thick white Turkish toweling.

HARPOONED WHALE DAMAGES VESSEL

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 9.—How a gigantic sperm whale broke two steel ribs of the steam whaler Tygee Junior, and disabled a dynamo and one engine when harpooned off Sitka, Alaska, was told by the crew of the whaler which arrived from Baranof island yesterday.

The battle with the whale began when Gunner Sigared Blick, former lieutenant in the Norwegian navy harpooned the big fellow. The whale dashed at the vessel with terrific speed. There was a crash as he struck amidship on the port side. The force of the collision increased the whale's fury and after a hard struggle it escaped.

Falling Appetite.

At breakfast in a country boarding house a girl of 12 got away with a dish of prunes, a bowl of cereal, three eggs, two muffins, three slices of bread, two glasses of milk and two cups of coffee. "Well, Mary," some one remarked, "you seem to have a good appetite." Regretfully the child answered, "Not very; 'tisn't nearly as good as it used to be."

LEGALIZED MONOPOLY MAY STRANGLE GENIUS

One feature of the trust problem seems to have largely escaped discussion, and that is the effect of trusts upon inventions and patents. This feature especially concerns Col. Roosevelt's idea of trust regulation. He takes the view that a trust—that is, a combination that practically controls a line of business—is a necessary evil, and that it must be licensed and regulated.

From one standpoint the view is sound. It is to the advantage of the consumer to have the entire business of making certain goods—say harvesting machinery—handled by one concern, provided that concern is prevented from taking excessive profits. If the trust were properly regulated, the people would get the benefit of the great economies resulting from centralized business management.

But what will be the effect on American inventive genius? Many great concerns, such as the Harvester trust, the Bell Telephone company, the Linotype company and many others, are built up solely on the results of inventive genius. Most of them started at nothing, the inventor and his backers having a desperate struggle to get a foothold. Even with an open field, an inventor has a hard enough time. What kind of a time would he have if he had to start in competition with a gigantic monopoly operating under government license?

But there is another aspect still more serious. What of the improvements that inventors may make upon existing machines? Already it is a matter of very serious complaint that big concerns like the telephone company buy up and deliberately suppress valuable improvements. This is quite natural. They are making just as much money now as they would if their machines were a little better; why, therefore, spend millions to install a new improvement for the benefit of the public? If the present trusts were firmly established as legalized monopolies, what would prevent them from buying up and suppressing any new invention that might threaten to affect their sales?

Whether this evil could be met by a change in the patent laws is somewhat doubtful. The law might provide that the owner of the patent must either manufacture it or else let others do so, but to what extent must he manufacture it? What is to prevent the trust owning a new patent from making it on a small scale, in a half-hearted way, with poor workmanship, for the express purpose of putting out a machine that people will not use?

This is only one of the baffling questions that surround the trust problem. It does not in itself prove that the Roosevelt plan is wrong, but it is a warning to go slow. We doubt whether the country is yet ready to adopt any wholesale and sweeping remedy for the trust evil. The public mind might be a good deal clearer on the subject if we gave the present anti-trust law a little further trial.

WHAT'S THE USE OF A DECLARATION

The statement of Mr. Rogers, Senator La Follette's law partner, that the Chicago newspaper story to the effect that the senator has come out for Wilson for president is untrue, may be unhesitatingly accepted. How could Senator La Follette openly endorse a democrat the week after he criticized McGovern for supporting a third party man?

It is known that Rudolph Spreckles, the great Californian who adheres to La Follette as the true progressive leader, and who after the injection of Roosevelt into the presidential race turned to Wilson as the best hope of the campaign, visited Senator La Follette in Madison last week for the supposed purpose of convincing him that he should declare for Wilson. It is equally certain that La Follette declined to do this. However, it is not at all impossible that La Follette told his friend Spreckles that in his heart of hearts he hoped Wilson would win. And it is not entirely beyond the bounds of possibility that Mr. Spreckles was afterward indiscreet. Spreckles' name was mentioned in the Chicago story, and listening ears may not have drawn any such fine discrimination as may exist between being for a man and declaring for a man.

Anyway, the conservatives will get cold comfort and little security from Mr. Rogers' denial on behalf of Senator La Follette. Even if the senator has not declared for Wilson, he has declared against Taft and Roosevelt, which really makes a little bit more added to what Wilson has got.

WE WANT MORE OF PRACTICAL SCHOOLS

There may be taxpayers, and even there may be aldermen, who deplore the necessity of giving some four thousand dollars additional to the support of the schools next year. To these, especially if they are working people, we say: This is no time for the plain people to cut down school facilities, for it is but now that the schools are coming to recognize the needs of the children of the plain people.

In La Crosse manual training and domestic science, those things that most of all school activities fit the boy for the task of home making and sustaining and the girl for the tasks of home keeping, are being provided upon a scale that should equip the boy and the girl in a practical way. But a few weeks ago a thoughtful citizen gave of his own means the money for the equipment of one of the finest vocational schools in the country. Shall those whose sons and daughters will profit most by that fail to appreciate the value to all the people of schools so conducted? Certainly not! The public does appreciate the practical turn given our institutions of learning, and in consequence the objectors are in the inveterate majority.

and Wanton Wiles

Contented
Let others grow excited o'er the grave affairs of state, And spend their time in politics and let their business wait. I've got no time to waste that way for I've got no ambition To butt in on the statecraft game, I'd rather sit and fish.

I don't care much about the ways among the foreign powers, I am not one to sit and talk about the thing for hours. The whole darned world can get riled up but it is not my wish To try and solve those problems for I'd rather sit and fish.

I worry not about the germs the scientists expose, High prices don't fess me a bit, nor do the kindred woes. For when I'm hungry I can find some nice bass on my dish. There's not a care upon my mind When I can sit and fish.

Missed the Train
Jennie's mother was expecting company, but just before train time a telegram arrived which read: "Missed train. Will start at same time tomorrow." Jennie rushed home from school expecting to see the guest, but instead was shown the message. After reading it laboriously and carefully through, she exclaimed, "Why, mamma, if she starts at the same time tomorrow, she will miss the train again."

Not Too Much of a Risk
"Sorry, Brown," said the doctor after the examination, "you're in a very serious condition. I'm afraid I'll have to operate on you." "Operate!" gasped Brown. "Why, I haven't the money for operations. I'm only a poor working man." "You're insured, are you not?" "Yes, but I don't get that until I'm dead." "Oh, that will be all right," said the doctor consolingly.—The Ballie.

Not Be Back
A man left his umbrella in the stand in a hotel recently with a card bearing the following inscription attached to it: "This umbrella belongs to a man who can deal a blow of 250 pounds' weight. I shall be back in ten minutes." On returning to seek his property he found in its place a card thus inscribed: "This card was left here by a man who can run twelve miles an hour. I shall not be back."

Contradict It
"I've walked many miles to see you, sir, because people told me that you were very kind to poor chaps like me." Householder: "Oh, they said so, did they?" Tramp: "Yes, sir; that's why I came." Householder: "Are you going back the same way?" Tramp: "Yes, sir." Householder: "Then in that case will you be good enough to contradict this rumor?"

Modern Progress
Keir Hardie, the English parliamentarian, tossed back his thick white mane of hair, stroked his white beard and said in broad Scotch accent in New York: "The rise in world wages has been great, but the rise in world prices has been greater. We have had progress, but it has been progress in the wrong direction."

"A tourist was traveling in your far west. As he inspected an Indian encampment he said to his cowboy guide:

"And are these Indians progressing?" "Betcher life," the cowboy answered, taking a fresh chew of tobacco. "Betcher life they're progressing. All their medicine men are patent medicine men now."—St. Paul Dispatch.

The Unexpected
"Ezra, the man who saved your life by pulling you out of the water yesterday is at the door."

"Confound his cheek! He's after money, of course. But he hasn't any legal claim. Did you tell him that? He can't get a cent out of me—not a cent. If he wants to go around diving into rivers for drowning people, that's his business. I didn't ask him to do it. He can sue me if he thinks it worth while. I don't care. Look here. Here's a dollar for him—tell him that's in full of all claims. Maybe you'd better get a receipt."

"He hasn't come for money."

"Eh! He hasn't? What does he want?"

"Why, he just dropped in to say that if he'd known it was you who fell in the river he'd let you drown."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

I WEAR no "rats," puffs or switches. I don't have to. My hair never falls out. Rarely do I find loose, dead hair on my comb even after vigorous combing. Use this formula and you will solve your hair problem—hair falling, dandruff and poor, sick hair. The hair will grow wonderfully.

With a half-pint of water mix half a pint of alcohol. To this add one ounce of beta-quinol. Shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol.

The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than fifty cents. This formula makes one full pint of the best hair grower, and it costs you much less than a dollar.

This formula should be applied very freely after brushing the scalp generously for a few minutes all over. Rub the tonic thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips.

EDITH M.—For red hands and arms use the following formula. I use this same formula constantly as a complexion beautifier. It will make the arms and hands beautiful—as white as marble—and will give the face a marvelous pinky white tint, and remove every freckle and red spot.

In a half-pint of hot water add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Keep stirring, while adding one ounce of zintone, until it is all dissolved. Then let it cool. If the cream is too thick to pour easily from a bottle, thin it down a little with more hot water. The cream will be white and satiny. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of zintone for not more than fifty cents.

DOROTHY P.—The blackhead remover I am glad you find so effective. Here is the simple formula you requested:

I dissolved twelve ounces of granulated sugar in one-half pint of water, added one ounce of sarsene, and mixed the whole together thoroughly, then added more water to make a pint. Sarsene is a liquid which you can get at the drug store by the ounce. Get it in the original package. I took one or two teaspoonfuls of this mixture three or four times a day, with a little water.

WONDERING.—For pimples on the shoulders use the formula given here to Dorothy P. Electricity is useless for bust development, as are also vacuum cups. You can regain development and have a bust like a young girl.

In a half-pint of hot water, dissolve two ounces of ruetone and half a cup of sugar, all well mixed together. Of this, take two teaspoonfuls three or four times a day in a wine-glass of water, after your meals. Avoid instruments or appliances of any kind. Also, you will very materially help along the development by massaging the bust with the eptol cream mentioned before. The ruetone will cost you one dollar, at any drug store.

MISS EMILY.—You can get rid of those crow's feet and wrinkles about the mouth and make yourself look years younger.

Pour one-half pint of hot water, not boiling, in a large bowl. Place this bowl in a pan of water on a slow fire. Then add two ounces of eptol and continue stirring until all is dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, then it will start to cream. When it does this, remove from the fire, add slowly two tablespoonfuls of glycerine, and stir constantly until cold. Keep in air-tight jar. The eptol may be obtained at any good drug store and should not cost you more than fifty cents.

Rub in well with a slapping motion of the hand until the cream disappears. This cream will not grow hair. I use this in the morning and in the evening.

Pat Took the Pledge

In a town in the west of Ireland lived a gentleman who had a servant boy who was very fond of a drop. His master told him one morning unless he took the pledge he would have to part with him, so Paddy, thinking it over, went off and took it from the priest, and got a note to his master to say he had done so, which he gave to him on his return. He was sent for some commands to the grocer's, and his master, forgetting something he needed badly, followed him, to find him in front of a pint. "I thought you took the pledge, Pat?" he said. "So I did, sir, but didn't I give it to you?"

On Hinges

A Yankee, "doing the sights" of Dublin was being driven round on one of the famous jaunting cars, and after scanning most of the buildings with a critical eye, turned to the driver and said, "Why, man, you ain't got no buildings of any size here. In America we have them 40 and 50 stories high!" "Bedad," said Pat, "I'll be bound you haven't seen the new building in Cork, where the top story is on hinges." "On hinges!" ejaculated the Yankee, with a surprised air. "Whatever is that for?" "Why," said Pat, chuckling inwardly, "so that they can let it down for the moon to pass!"

CHAPTER XV.
Love in Idleness.

One not born a vagabond in heart can never understand a vagabond's love for the open places, for absolute freedom, to go where he wants, see what he wants, work when he wants. To a vagabond an office is intolerable, the accumulation of dollars, grinding another man to gain a petty advance for oneself, utterly uninspiring, conventionality, the ceaseless humdrum round of existence as a clerk at ten revolving. Following step by step in the well-worn, beaten path, where no man dares step aside lest he be jeered at, where none dares fall, lest he be pushed from the road and another take his place, where all think alike, look alike, act alike, spending one's days in an office, bent over a littered, dusty, shabby desk, one's nights at some cheap play-house, seeking to find an outlet for the strain of the day by stupefying the senses with some garish parody of life, is not living to a vagabond. He is willing to work if the work is a part of himself, a development of that clamorous ego that must find peace in the open, in the physical side of existence. If he is born rich, he will become a traveler, a mountain climber, an aviator; if poor, a tramp, and the Watermelon was born poor.

For the last few years his feet had followed his errand will, now here, now there. He was impervious to hardship while he could wander as he wished, indifferent to good clothes when the price was eight hours a day spent in a stuffy office, bent round-shouldered, hump-backed, over a column of figures. Beneath good clothes or shabby, there was nothing but a human body, all more or less alike. So the Watermelon had gone his careless, contented way, now resting here, now working there, unworried by rent days falling due, by collars fraying around the edges, coats getting shabby and shiny at the seams, and then Billy came along, Billy, young, sweet, conventional, an honored member of convention's band, walking around and around the same well-beaten path, in the same small inclosure. If he had elected to be one of the throng, he would never have met her. Struggling along at ten per cent, he would have been so far down the line, plodding painfully on, that Billy would never have seen him.

But now he was out and a fence unscalable was between them. If he climbed the fence again, it would do no good. No vagabond can ever fall in line and keep step, and there is not room enough in the inclosure for the man who has dared to climb the fence and drop down the other side.

Bartlett, like Billy, wondered if he were growing simple-minded. A desire to confide in Henrietta, to tell her what he was up to, had come upon him and seemed too strong to be resisted. Last night, up the quiet country road, alone with Henrietta, he had been forced to suppress the desire sternly, and now in the garish light of day it was still upon him. He took a seat beside her on the stone wall where she tried to be comfortable as she fished olives from a nearly empty bottle, the remains of last night's supper.

"I wonder," said he, hovering on the edge of his foolish desire, "if any one can become a man with nothing to regret."

"Certainly not," said Henrietta. "There would always be the years."

"I mean something that he had done himself," explained Bartlett soberly, a sandwich in one hand, a buttered roll in the other.

"Don't tell me your troubles," said Henrietta, thinking miserably of the years it would soon be so hard to deny. "I have enough of my own. Confession may be good for the soul, but it's the death-blow to your reputation."

"Father used to say that if there were public confessions instead of private in the Catholic church, there would be no Catholics," said the Watermelon, helping Billy to the last of the sardines.

"Let's have a public confession," cried the artless Billy. "Everybody tell the worst thing that they ever did in their lives."

The Watermelon laughed and leaned toward her, a moth flirting with the candle flame. "Oh, kid; I'll bet the worst you ever did was to swipe the jam-pot when ma was not looking."

"No," said Billy, "I did an awful thing once."

"Let's hear it."

Billy took the olive bottle from Henrietta, speared an olive and passed the bottle on before she spoke. "Will you confess, if I do?" she asked, pausing with the olive half way to her mouth.

"Sure," said the Watermelon. "I robbed an apple orchard once."

"You're fooling," accused Billy. "I'm not. I'm really serious."

"So am I," vowed the Watermelon.

"Billy," said Henrietta, "spare us. I am too young to listen to a tale of depravity."

But the lure of the confessional held Billy and she passed Henrietta's remark without notice. She turned to the Watermelon. "If I tell you the worst thing I ever did, will you tell me the worst you ever did?"

"I haven't done the worst yet," explained the Watermelon.

wrecked the cars and seen the damage repaired by Alphonse, hurried to the four sitting on the stone wall. "Come on," said he. "It is time we were going. We have no blue book, you know."

"I shouldn't wonder," said Henrietta, "if there were not a rare chance for some one to confess a heinous crime."

She looked at Bartlett as he held out his hand to help her down and her eyes laughed deep into his.

"In self-defense," he pleaded in a whisper.

It was very early. The freshness of night still clung to fields and wood. The air was full of the clamor of birds and from the valley below came the stentorian crow of a rooster. Little wisps of white clouds drifted by in the deep blue of the sky and a breeze played gently with the girls' long auto veils.

So in the freshness of the early morning they dipped down the hill into the valley, passed farm-houses and corn lands. They stopped about nine at a farm-house and partook of a breakfast of coffee, bacon and eggs. Alphonse filled the cars at a village store and they went on. The glory of the day, the close proximity of Henrietta, who sat beside him, dainty, merry, feminine, the success so far of his plan, which in his rarer moments he still cherished, raised Bartlett's spirits higher and higher and they went faster and faster. They swept over the boundary line into Maine with a rush.

taking the hills at high speed and skimming into the valleys, now entering a stretch of cool dark wood, now tearing into the sunshine again, past cornfields, hay fields and rocky pastures. Cows whisked their tails at the cars' approach and dashed awkwardly away from the fence rails. Chickens squawked and tore madly to safety with flapping wings. Farm-houses appeared and disappeared in a cloud of dust. Lakes were seen one moment and gone the next. They swept around a bend in the road and into a man trap, a pile of wood across the road and three farmers waiting grimly with loaded guns.

MALARIA—Blood Poverty

Malaria is a species of blood poverty known as Anaemia; the circulation becomes so weak and impure that it is unable to supply the system with sufficient nourishment and strength to preserve ordinary health. In the first stages of Malaria the complexion grows pale and sallow, the appetite is affected, the system grows bilious, and there is a general feeling of weakness. As the circulation becomes more thoroughly saturated with the malarial infection, the digestion is deranged, chills and fever come and go, skin diseases, boils, sores and ulcers break out, and the entire health becomes impaired. Malaria can only be cured by removing the germs from the blood. S. S. S. destroys every particle of malarial infection and builds up the blood to a strong nourishing condition. Then the system receives its proper amount of nutriment, sallow complexions grow ruddy and healthful, the liver and digestion are righted and every symptom of Malaria passes away. S. S. S. cures in every case because it purifies the blood. S. S. S. is a safe and pleasant remedy as well as an efficient one. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

PAINTERS CAPTURE THREE STRAIGHT

Open Bowling Season with Victory Over Nelsons; Yehle Makes Speech

With the Painters rolling in the form that won the championship for them last year, the champions took three straight games from the Nelson Clothing company team in the opening of the bowling season at the Combination alleys last evening. The first game between these two clubs was a close and interesting one, the Painters finally winning out by twenty-three points. They took the second game by a good margin while in the last game the champions ran up a score of 902 which easily won that contest. Voves, captain of the Painters, had high score for a single game as he rolled 223 in the third contest.

Alois Yehle, the veteran bowler of the Premium team, delivered the speech opening the bowling season.

Defense in Dynamite Trial Will Object to Testimony About Wreckings

UNION NOT UNDER ATTACK

Judge Makes Defense Attorney Withdraw Assertion that Ironworkers Are Assailed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9.—It became known today that defense in the dynamite conspiracy cases would stubbornly combat the government's every attempt to get before the jury evidence in connection with the alleged explosions affecting structural steel work from coast to coast. The indictment on which the forty ironworkers are being tried, charges the illegal interstate transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerine on passenger trains, and the defense attorneys contend, says nothing about the explosions.

Motion to Quash Refused

Before Newt Harding of counsel for the defense, began the opening statement for the accused, which he continued when the trial was resumed today, Joseph G. Leffler, of Muncie, saying that he acted for each of the defendants, filed a demurrer to the indictments and a motion to quash the case and discharge the jury because the district attorney in his opening speech had dragged in the explosions and dwelt on the loss of property and human life which was not charged against these defendants. Judge Anderson overruled the motion and Harding began his speech.

Harding first read the indictment against the men, stressing the point that it was the transportation between states of dynamite of which they were accused and nothing more. He then read the statute covering the alleged offense and followed this with a history of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Ironworkers. When he got to that point, there was a clash in which Judge Anderson, Harding and Miller all took a hand.

Union Not Attacked

"Now let me tell you a little something about this union that is being attacked," he began.

"No union is being attacked," shouted the district attorney jumping to his feet.

"I have said that no labor organization is on trial nor is organized labor on trial," said Judge Anderson. "I repeat that now, and I want it understood by counsel on both sides."

Judge Anderson had Harding withdraw his remark about the union being attacked, but allowed him to proceed with his history of the organization and its workings.

ACCEPT PLANS OF WATER ENGINEERS

Specifications for New System Adopted by Council Subject to Some Minor Changes by Board

WILL REMOVE THE OLD PUMP

Present 4,000,000 Gallon Engine Will Be Used as Reserve in the New Station

Definitely agreeing to accept the plans of Alvord and Burdick, engineers, for the new water plant, with a few minor changes suggested by the board of public works, the city council last night decided to withhold their formal acceptance until next Tuesday, when all the alterations will have been made. Last night's special meeting was accordingly adjourned until that time.

There was no hitch or lack of harmony in the proceedings. The board of public works, the city engineer and the water plant engineers have agreed upon the minor changes to be made in the plans and specifications, and the council accepted their decision without discussion. The changes scheduled are said to be mostly corrections of clerical errors.

Will Remove Pump

The only difference to mark the otherwise perfect harmony of the meeting arose over the removal of the 4,000,000 gallon pump from the old pumping station to the new station in the marsh. It was finally decided to remove the pump to the new location. A disagreement was precipitated by City Engineer George Bradish, who declared that it was a waste of money to move the pump, as provided in the plans of the engineers. He said the pump would have to be completely overhauled before moving, and the expense did not warrant it. The chance of a conflagration large enough to require the services of the pump as auxiliary to the other pumps was too remote to be a factor, he declared.

Engineer Burdick defended his project by declaring that the total tax upon the station, in case of fire, would be around 12,000,000 gallons. The pumps provided in the plans have a capacity of 18,000,000 gallons, these being one of 10,000,000 and one of 8,000,000 gallons capacity. If one of these should be out of order, he insisted, the city would not have enough water to fight a large fire unless the old pump was put in place to be used as a reserve. He said the protection would be worth whatever it would cost to remove the pump, and that its removal would probably make a difference in insurance rates in the city.

After a little discussion among the aldermen, the matter was put to a vote, and it was decided to remove the pump to the new station by a vote of 17 to 3.

Trade for Station Site

The council last night authorized the payment of $1,000 bonus to the Oak Grove Cemetery association for the site of the new pumping station in the marsh. The city trades a plot of land approximately three-fourths of an acre near Myrick park to the association for three and three-tenths acres of land on the site of the new pump house.

Friday night was set as a date for the hearing of charges preferred by Alderman George B. Marvin against Ed Corcoran, proprietor of the Corcoran hotel, for selling liquor to a posted man. The hearing will be held immediately after the regular council meeting.

A resolution leaving the purchase of fire horses to the discretion of the chief of the fire department was also passed, the only restriction being that the chief must report each purchase to the council meeting following the transaction.

A refund of $660.24 to the St. Michael's Orphanage was authorized, for their expense in laying water pipes to connect with the city water system.

The quarterly report of the police justice was accepted and filed.

Application of the State bank for permission to erect a stairway on the Fourth street side of their new location in the McMillan building was refused after a short discussion, it being held by the city attorney that the council could not grant the petition without violation of the city charter.

EAU CLAIRE HEADS Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE

La Crosse Still Next to the Bottom; Tall Hustling Necessary to Finish First

Eau Claire passed Fond du Lac yesterday and now stands at the top of the percentage column of the State Y. M. C. A. Membership Contest league, and while La Crosse has made heavier gains during the last two or three days than any other city in the league, the local standing is still the same as it was yesterday. The contest closes at 10 o'clock tomorrow night, and if La Crosse is to make good her boast that she would quit at the head of the list, some tall hustling is on the program for the local members. There are about forty renewed memberships in the hands of the secretary here, but it is impossible to count these because they have not been paid up. The remainder of the campaign will be devoted to an attempt to get new members and getting these renewals to pay up before tomorrow night. Secretary Gran has not given up hope that La Crosse will yet win the top place before the end of the campaign tomorrow night, and declares that the wires will be kept hot from now until then lining up the delinquents and urging the workers to greater efforts.

The score for today is given as follows:

Standing of Inter-City Series.
	Yesterday.	Today.	Gain.
Eau Claire	456	490	39
Fond du Lac	458	467	9
La Crosse	421	459	38

WILSON ATTACKS T. R.

5,000 AT SPRINGFIELD HEAR GOVERNOR PAY TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN AND PLAY COLONEL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 9.—A crowd of 5,000 people heard Governor Wilson continue his attacks on Colonel Roosevelt in the court house square here today. He caught the audience and brought forth laughter, applause and cheers when he said:

"I feel that I owe the American people an apology for presuming to run for the presidency when there's a world's baseball championship series going on. I know you would a great deal rather hear the score than hear a speech, but I'm interested in scores, too."

"I'm interested in what the score is going to be on November 5. The democrats are getting on to Roosevelt's curves and are hitting out home runs every time they come to bat—and you ought not to overlook the fact that this presidential campaign is really quite an important game."

Governor Wilson paid a tribute to Abraham Lincoln and again went after Roosevelt and the third party when he said: "For those who now seek to perpetuate monopoly in the name of Lincoln is the same as it would have been for those who sought to perpetuate human slavery to speak in the name of the great emancipator."

It is extremely doubtful if two heads are better than one when it comes to keeping a secret.

UNITED STATES COURT CONVENES

Judge Sanborn Continues Montana Land Case; Forty-five Cases on Calendar

United States District court opened here today with the prosecution of William Burdun, of Auburn, La., on a charge of transportation of unsound and unhealthful meat. He was alleged to have shipped veal under the required age. Mr. Burdun pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100.

Following the disposal of the Burdun case, the case of John W. McLees vs. Stoll and Chase, involving the alleged fraudulent sale of Montana land, was continued until the end of the calendar. This case was not-suited in the circuit court of La Crosse county upon request of the plaintiff.

The court calendar contains forty-five cases over fifty per cent of which are cases dealing with the sale of liquor to Indians. Two cases of sending obscene literature through the mail will be brought before the court. Court will probably be in session for two weeks.

The court officers are as follows: Judge A. L. Sanborn, Madison; F. W. Oakley, clerk of court, Madison; R. J. Flint, United States marshal, Madison; C. P. McAssey and W. H. Appleby, deputies U. S. marshals, Madison; G. H. Gordon, United States district attorney, La Crosse; H. H. Morgan, assistant U. S. district attorney, Madison; and G. C. Holmes, court reporter, Madison.

BIG BUNCH OF CITY LOTS TO BE SOLD

One hundred and twenty-eight lots in S. W. Anderson's second and third additions to the city of La Crosse were transferred from E. E. Bentley, trustee, to E. M. Wing today, the big transfer being recorded in the office of Register of Deeds Andrew Thompson. Mr. Bentley has left the city on a business trip and he transferred his trusteeship to Mr. Wing because of the sale of the lots, which will take place next Saturday and Sunday. The lots will be sold by the Nuckolls Realty and Auction company at public auction. The entire lot of city property belongs to a syndicate of local capitalists.

COUNTERFEITERS IN JAIL

CAIRO, Oct. 9.—After worrying for months over the increasing amount of counterfeit coin in circulation the police have finally located the source in Tourah prison. In an obscure corner of the institution was found a complete plant, and several of the inmates were discovered to be "concocters" of international reputation. It is believed a number of the prison officials are implicated.

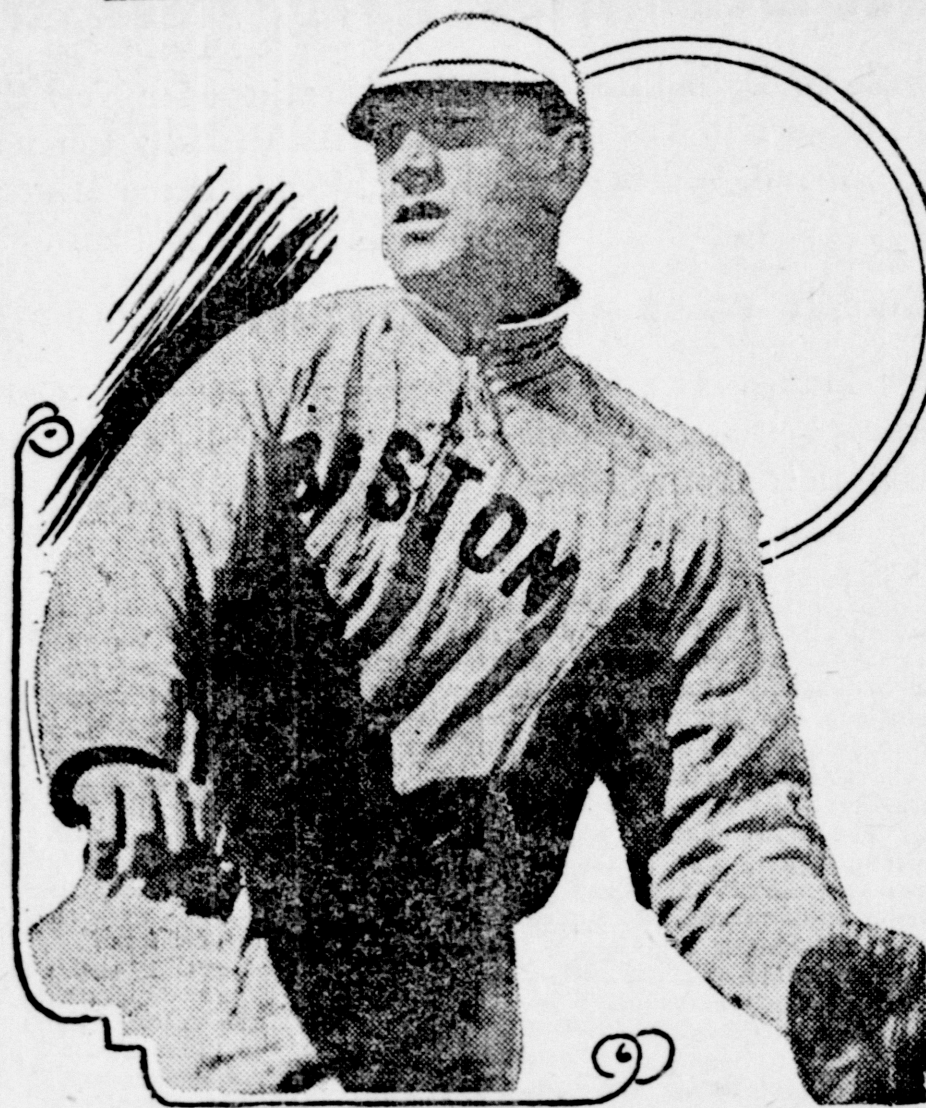

JUSTIFIES JILTING

BELGRADE, Oct. 9.—The jury at Shabats which tried Anton Hadgitch for jilting Marie Avramovitch decided that his conduct was justifiable. Anton admitted that he threw his sweetheart over after he had learned that she was thrifless and a poor housekeeper.

Real success doesn't have to pay a claque.

SHOWS THAT THE PURELY AMERICAN LEAGUE BRAND OF BASEBALL IS CLASSY

Jake Stahl.

Mr. Jacob G. Stahl, manager of the Boston Red Sox, is living proof that the purely American league brand of baseball is a high class article. Immediately after graduating from Illinois university, Stahl joined the Boston Americans. He has never been out of the American league, and in this respect differs from all the other American league managers. His lack of experience in the National league doesn't seem to cripple him in the present race for the pennant. The Red Sox are in the lead by a comfortable margin.

DARKNESS ENDS SECOND GAME

McGraw breezed about that possibly McGraw might work a shift as he did yesterday when he announced that he was the gunner and then in the last minute before play was called sent Tesreau to the mound. The darkening day seemed made to order for Rube Marquard and it was realized that he would probably not have another more suited to his particular forte. Matty continued to warm up, however, and was the cynosure of all eyes.

The Marquard rumor was put on the kibosh when, in the final batting practice, the Rube was sent to bat files for the outfielders. Matty continuing to warm up—the only Giant twirler on the firing line.

Only a few seats were vacant when the game started, and the management said the park with special bleacher seats would hold 35,000 people.

Umpires—Behind the bat, O'Loughlin; on the bases, Rigler; left foul line, Klem; right foul line, Evans.

The batteries—For Boston, Collins and Carrigan; for New York, Mathewson and Meyers.

On account of the new bleachers in left field, which shortened the field, a ground rule was made limiting a drive into the seats there to two bases.

At the last minute there was considerable delay while McGraw rearranged his batting order. In the readjustment Snodgrass replaced Devore at the top of the Giants' batting order.

Play was called at 2:08 p. m.

First Inning

NEW YORK—Snodgrass, the first Giant to face Collins, leaned on the second ball pitched and boosted it into the left field bleachers for a double. Doyle, with the count two and, fanned out, swiping a foot under the third one, which was high. Becker rolled an easy one to Yerkes and was thrown out at first. Snodgrass going to third on the play. Murray bounded a hot one to Collins which he knocked down with his bare hand in time to retire Red. No runs, one hit, no errors.

BOSTON—Mathewson was given a hand as he walked to the mound and when Hooper stepped out with his bludgeon the fans gave him a cheer, to which he responded with a scratch hit. Mathewson went after the bounder and deflected it so that it rolled out of his own reach and between Doyle and Merkle. Yerkes was next up and on the fourth ball pitched swung at a wide one and helped Hooper make the first successful steal of the series. Yerkes was safe when Fletcher let his easy fly bound out of his awaiting mitt, thereby killing off an easy chance to double Hooper at second. Speaker caught Mathewson flat-footed and laid a slow bunt down the third base line, filling the bases with no one out. It was a bad hole for Big Six, but one which the Boston fans proceeded to give their vociferous approval. Lewis grounded to Herzog, whose quick throw to Meyers forced Hooper at the plate. Gardner hit a high bounder which Matty could not quite reach. Doyle scooped it up and retired the runner at first, Yerkes scoring on the play. Matty was credited with an assist for deflecting the ball to Doyle. Stahl singled through Herzog, scoring Speaker and Lewis. Wagner flew out to Doyle. Three runs, three hits, one error.

The first session was a bad one for Matty and aside from his own work in the box the big fellow displayed considerable slowness in fielding his position. He was apparently calm and unruffled, but his delivery appeared to have little on it.

Second Inning

NEW YORK—Merkle fell an easy victim to three pitched balls, the third strike being called. Herzog roused the stands with a smashing triple to deep right center, his sprint around the paths being culminated by a beautiful slide which landed him safe by an eyelash. Meyers' short drive down the third base line took a bad bound, striking Gardner squarely in the face and putting him down almost for the count, he lying face down while Herzog scored. Fletcher's high fly was easy for Hooper. Matty got the most enthusiastic ovation given any player in the series today when he stepped up to the bat for the first time, but his response was a force-out of Meyers. Yerkes to Wagner. One run, two hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Carrigan grounded to Herzog and was out at first. Collins was an easy victim, going out, Doyle to Merkle. Hooper lined one through Merkle down the right foul line for two bases. Yerkes out, Fletcher to Merkle. No runs, one hit, no errors.

While Mathewson got out of the second session without difficulty, it was obvious even to the untutored that his delivery was decidedly lacking in the smoke which was a characteristic feature of yesterday's battery work. The fielding of the Giants in this inning was snappy and spectacular.

Third Inning
NEW YORK—Snodgrass flied out to Hooper. Doyle flied out to Gardner after two weak swings. It looked as though the Giants' captain, who is a left handed hitter, was badly handicapped against Collins' south-paw pitching. Becker grounded out. Wagner to Stahl. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Speaker lined a high one to Merkle, which the Giants' first baseman knocked down by leaping into the air. Speaker and Merkle both slid into first. Merkle getting the decision. Lewis flied high to Murray. Gardner grounded out. Doyle to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning

NEW YORK—Murray tripled to right center. His drive was a liner over second which Hooper did not time right, the ball getting past the Red Sox' right fielder which gave Murray an extra base. Markle fouled to Gardner, close to the stand. Herzog hit a long high sacrifice fly to Speaker. Murray scoring after the catch. Speaker went so far into center to get the ball that he did not even turn around to watch Murray go home. Meyers grounded to Wagner in deep short, but it was too hot for the Red Sox' captain and it went as a single for the Giant catcher. Fletcher hit a line fly to Hooper in deep right. One run, two hits, no errors.

Collins was back in his rather uncertain stride of the first and second innings in this session. Murray's triple and Meyers' single were hard smashes and Speaker and Hooper had to back-track to get drives by Herzog and Fletcher.

BOSTON—Stahl struck out, missing a low one over the outside corner for his third swing. Wagner flied to Murray in short right center. Carrigan was robbed of a hit by a great

HARRIMAN RAISED FUND FOR TEDDY

Clapp Committee Witnesses Say He Got $250,000 at Request of the Colonel

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—"Wizard" Harriman raised $250,000 in 1904 at President Roosevelt's special request.

This was the emphatic testimony today before the Clapp committee, directly contradicting Roosevelt's recent sworn statement. One witness said he handled the money. Another said Roosevelt told him on the telephone that he intended to ask Harriman.

Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Harriman lines directorate, said Harriman raised the campaign fund at Roosevelt's request. Lovett stated positively that Harriman gave him the funds—$50,000 in cash and the rest in checks—and that he (Lovett) gave it personally to Treasurer Cornelius N. Bliss of the republican national committee.

Former Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia said he talked with Roosevelt on the telephone, and that Roosevelt said that he was going to send for Harriman and ask Harriman to get more money for the New York state campaign.

Lovett stated that Harriman and W. K. Vanderbilt gave $30,000 each toward the $250,000 fund.

Roosevelt recently swore that Harriman came to him and asked to have money given by the national committee to the New York campaign.

stop by Fletcher in deep short and well toward third, being put out by a quick throw to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

This was another easy inning for Matty and the old Giant mainstay seemed to be back in his regular swing. In the second, third and fourth only ten Sox were at bat.

Fifth Inning

NEW YORK—Matty got another hand and fanned. Carrigan dropped the third strike and Matty started for first, but Carrigan's throw beat him easily. Collins gets credit for strike out, Carrigan an assist, and Stahl an out. Snodgrass was over anxious and duplicated Mathewson's strikeout stunt. Doyle flied to Lewis in short left and another half inning was wound up in short order. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOSTON—Collins fanned, the third strike being called. In celebration of the occasion, the sun, which had not shown forth during the game, peeped from behind a cloud and was given a welcoming cheer by the fans who felt slighted at the discrimination of the weather man in favor of New York. Hooper connected for a line single to center, the third successful connection in three times up. As soon as the sun demonstrated that it was on the job for keeps, Murray and Snodgrass interchanged positions, the latter donning his goggles and taking the sun parlor in right field. Fletcher dropped Meyers' throw to catch Hooper stealing and he was safe at second. Yerkes, the pinch hitting hero of the first game, came through again with a triple to center. Hooper scoring. Speaker lined to Fletcher, who threw to Herzog, doubling up Yerkes at third. One run, two hits, one error.

Two solid smashes were made off Matty in this inning. Hooper and Yerkes both driving the ball far out of reach of any Giant fielder and Speaker's liner to Fletcher on which Yerkes was doubled at third almost knocked the Giant off his feet.

Sixth Inning

NEW YORK—Becker drove an easy one to Wagner and was thrown out to Stahl. Murray was again there with the wallop and singled safely to right. Merkle flew out to Speaker in deep left center. Murray was caught by a yard. Carrigan to Wagner, on his lame attempt to steal second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Murray's unsuccessful attempt to piler second gave the first test to Carrigan's arm and the demonstration given by the Red Sox catcher was thoroughly satisfactory to Boston.

BOSTON—Lewis' bounder was too hot for Fletcher to handle, but the Giant shortstop made a game attempt to recover. He was unsuccessful and Lewis got credit for a single. Gardner sacrificed, Matty to Merkle, moving Lewis over to the second turn. Merkle rapped Stahl's high foul back of first and chalked up an error for himself. Stahl was out on first on a weak push to Matty. Lewis taking third on the putout. Wagner died on the base line, Matty touching him out after catching his little roller. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The session was a slow one, Matty and Merkle conducting the show between them.

Seventh Inning

NEW YORK—Herzog started the seventh for the Giants with a clean smash to right. Meyers flew out to Yerkes. Herzog stole second, securing the benefit of the close decision by a beautiful slide into the bag. Fletcher popped out to Stahl. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giant's section of the so-called lucky seventh fizzled out when, after starting auspiciously with Herzog's single, Matty, the last hope of the inning, made three vain, vicious slashes at three of Collins' choicest offerings.

BOSTON—Carrigan was disposed of easily. Herzog to Merkle. Collins got a round of applause when he appeared at the plate, but Matty returned the compliment by striking the Boston twirler out. Hooper went out. Doyle to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning

NEW YORK—Snodgrass was safe at first on Lewis' miff of his short line fly. Doyle made his first hit of the game, a hard grounder to cen-

WONDER HOW I CAN SCARE UP SOME CHANGE?

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP BASE BALL SERIES BEGINS OCT. 8.

EAT WITHOUT FEAR! NO SICK, SOUR, GASSY STOMACH OR INDIGESTION

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly, ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

BELIEVED WOMAN ARRESTED IN ST. LOUIS KNOWS WHO ROBBED BANK OF MONTREAL

Jeanette Little and Detective Harry Cullett.

CHICAGO—Once again woman's inability to keep away from her lover for any great length of time has resulted in the capture of an outlaw. J. C. Adams, alias J. Walter Stacey, believed to be one of the robbers who took $272,000 from the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., was found in St. Louis by detectives who followed Mrs. Jeanette Little, his sweetheart, from Chicago to that city. Adams is now in jail. Mrs. Little, who is believed to have been an accomplice in the robbery, has also been locked up. She was arrested by Detective Cullett, to whom much of the credit for Adams' capture is due.

Chicago police are now dividing their attention between trying to find the trail of the bank robbers and locating in Chicago a large portion of the $272,000 stolen from the Canadian bank. It was asserted that Mrs. Little made the statement that $170,000 of the money is in the hands of a south side business man who had become a confederate of the robbers. She said he had been entrusted with the money to change it into United States currency.

Both Mrs. Little and Adams profess innocence of the crime of robbing the Canadian bank. Adams claims he is a tramp painter, wandering aimlessly about the country. Mrs. Little claims to be an innocent beggar. Assistant Chief of Police Schuetzler and Supt. Joseph R. Schumaker, of the Pinkerton detective agency both express confidence, however, that they will be able to connect both Adams and Mrs. Little with the bank case.

400 DELEGATES AT CONVENTION

Northwestern Branch of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society Opens Sessions

STORIES OF DISTANT LANDS

Pioneers of Work in China, India, Philippines and Other Countries on the Program

With more than 400 delegates from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin in attendance, the forty-second annual meeting of the Northwestern Branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society opened at the First Methodist church last evening. After the delegates had registered, the first meeting of the conference was held in the church parlors where the address of welcome and several addresses were given.

Congressman John J. Esch delivered the address of welcome in which he welcomed the delegates to La Crosse in behalf of the officials and the citizens of La Crosse stating that this conference would be one of permanent value to the city.

Showing how the missionaries had aided in helping the natives in a medical as well as a spiritual way, Dr. Rebecca Parrish of the Philippines gave an interesting talk on "The Mission of Medical Women in the Orient." Dr. Parrish appeared in a costume worn in the Philippine Islands and she declared that the Methodist women are doing a great missionary work, the full importance of which is probably not realized because the people here cannot realize the conditions which exist in an entirely different part of the world.

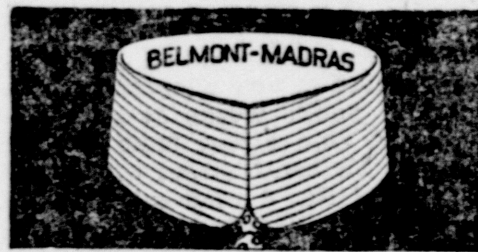

Work in Philippines

She showed how the people in the islands appreciated the medical aid which was given them without pay and how the work had progressed from a small beginning in 1906 until at the present time the work is widespread. Whereas, when the work was begun, but a few would come to be helped, hundreds now come to the hospital to be benefited by the missionaries. A hospital was built and when the natives come there they are taught the gospel in addition to getting medical aid and they are grateful for the help. Many native girls are entering the work and they are enthusiastic and are helping many of their friends.

Needs of Malaysia

"That They May Lay Hold on Eternal Life," was the topic on which Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis of Ohio who is working in Malaysia, spoke on. She told of the many different nationalities who may be seen in Singapore and she asked for help for the people of Malay who are greatly in need of this aid. She told of the sufferings of the people of India and China, how much they need the help of missionaries to work there and what wonderful results would come of this work. The womanhood of China must be redeemed in order to better China, said Mrs. Curtis, and much is being done to help the Chinese. The people of these countries are eager to learn about the gospel as has been shown many times by the people there.

Bishop Warne to Speak

Bishop Frank Warne will speak in the First Methodist church next Thursday evening.

Immediately following his graduation from Northwestern university, and his theological course in Garrett Biblical Institute, he went to India, where for a quarter of a century he has labored without stint and with small pecuniary reward for the uplift of a people whom he found "sitting in darkness and the shadow of death."

For years he worked as a station pastor, walking long distances or riding in ox carts to distant villages on his large circuits.

Then in recognition of his excellent services and mental and spiritual equipment he was made presiding elder.

Bishop Warne is in America to aid in raising an emergency fund.

FOR MARRIAGE LAWS

ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE ADVOCATES DRASTIC CHANGE IN MARRIAGE REGULATIONS

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today is on record as in favor of the most radical recommendations ever adopted with regard to marriage and divorces by a governing body of a Protestant church.

"Wed in health or stay single," is the law which the conference would have adopted in every state.

Physical examination of every applicant for a marriage license, a statute providing that no divorce be granted except on scriptural grounds, a law making abandonment of a wife by a husband a felony, and federal control of the entire subject of marriage and divorce are among the recommendations of the church.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE HELD AT BANGOR

The first 1912 Teachers' Institute will be held at the Bangor high school Saturday, according to the announcement made today by B. F. Oltman, county superintendent of schools. The program follows:

Opening exercises.

Plans for the year. B. F. Oltman.

An upper form reading lesson, Prof. J. O. Engleman.

The study of pictures, Prof. E. D. Long.

Intermission.

(1:30) roll call. Each teacher to respond with some educational maxim, suggestion or question.

Some relation of geography and history, J. O. Engleman.

Teaching poetry, E. D. Long.

The daily program, B. F. Oltman.

On the Same Plane.

"I went into politics," said the serious woman, "so that when national topics come up I can understand what my husband is talking about." "And has your plan succeeded?" "To a certain extent. It has brought us into closer mental accord, for I find that he doesn't understand, either."

First United States Stocking Factory.

The first United States stocking factory was set up at Cohoes, New York, in 1832. The machine for knitting was the invention of Lee, an Englishman, who took out a patent in 1589. The Lee machine was introduced in the Colonies during the Revolution, but a sharp Yankee improved on it, and set up the first factory at Cohoes.

Origin of "Spinster."

"Spinster," as a term, owes its origin to the fact that in olden days the law did not permit a woman to marry until she had spun a complete set of linen. There was a particularly wholesome restraint about some of the old laws.

CLUBS FOR SUFFRAGE

WISCONSIN WOMEN'S FEDERATION AT CONVENTION SHOWS STRONG FEMINIST SENTIMENT

JANESVILLE, Wis., Oct. 9.—The sixteenth annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of women's clubs opened this morning with Mrs. Earle N. Pease, first vice president, in the chair, and a sentiment of suppressed excitement in the air. Four hundred delegates and visitors were present.

The feminist movement, suffrage some of the less timid called it, was discussed by many groups and touched upon lightly in many of the talks and in every instance seemed approvingly.

This is significant, for the subject has been tabooed in previous conventions until last year, when decided interest was manifest, and a resolution passed urging club members to study suffrage and bring a suffrage speaker to the present convention.

structed to thank the board of education and Mr. Hixon on behalf of the common council.

The special street improvement committee report regarding Jackson street oiling and recommending that in the future whenever the board of public works enters into any agreement in which the other party proposes to guarantee their work or material that the city attorney be requested to draw up a proper contract that will bind the parties was adopted.

A resolution was adopted that an agreement be entered into with the Wisconsin Pearl Button company to submit the matters in dispute between the city of La Crosse and said company to a board of arbitration to consist of Walter S. Woods, William A. Thompson and William J. Ferris.

A resolution was adopted that the board of public works be instructed to cover Vine street from Twelfth street to Sixteenth street with a heavy coat of No. 6 road oil whenever the street is in proper condition for such oiling during the season of 1913.

The final estimate of the La Crosse Stone company amounting to $4,211.88 for granite top macadam on Vine street from West Avenue to Sixteenth street, was allowed.

Alderman Collins moved to reconsider the action taken by the common council at the last meeting regarding the appropriation of $100 to repair the city scales. Carried by viva voce vote.

A resolution was adopted that the board of public works be authorized to enter into a contract with the Howe Scale company for the repair of the city scales at the north side scales and two at the south side city scales and the purchase of a new scale, ten ton capacity, 22x10, for the public market in accordance with the proposition presented by said company at this meeting at a sum not to exceed two hundred and ninety-five dollars.

On motion of Alderman Houska a recess was taken.

On re-convening Alderman F. G. Roth presented the following report which was received and ordered placed on file:

GOES TO NEWPORT TO ASSIST IN STAGING COMEDY TO BE GIVEN BY SOCIETY GIRLS

NEW YORK.—Rose Leslie, and her beautiful sister, Paula, who are prominent in the beauty chorus of Clifton Crawford's musical show, "My Best Girl," now running at a Broadway theater, have asked the management of this attraction to give them a two weeks' leave of absence, in order that they may immediately repair to Newport, to assist in the staging of Miss Jean Wallach and Miss Fredericka Paine's musical comedy, "Newport," for which Marshall Kernochan has written the music. The cast of "Newport," will include only the debutantes of the season. Among those who will act as show girls are the Misses Roberta and Natalia Willard, Miss Elizabeth M. Sands, Miss Fredericka Sands, Miss Jean Wallach, Miss Margaret Caperton, Miss Harriet Ferry, and Miss Ethelinda A. Moran. Marshall Kernochan will act as stage director and orchestra leader. The performance will be given at Mrs. Barger Wallach's magnificent home, Edna Villa, and will be produced on October 26. The invitation list has been limited to three hundred and already many individuals whose social standing is not any too secure, are suffering qualms of fear lest they be overlooked.

Homeseekers' Excursion To Montana

Tuesday, October 15, 1912

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, through one of its Traveling Immigration Agents, will conduct a party of homeseekers for a one to three weeks' trip to Montana, that they may secure first hand information about the wonderful opportunities offered the Farmer and Business Man.

The party will leave Chicago Tuesday, October 15, on "The Columbian" at 10:10 a. m., Milwaukee 12:20 p. m., St. Paul 10:25 p. m., Minneapolis 11:10 p. m., via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railways. Stops will be made in the Yellowstone and Musselshell Valleys, and the famous Judith Basin, Smith River Valley and Three Forks Country. Arrangements have been made by the commercial organizations of these districts to show their lands and furnish reliable information regarding crop yields, land values, homesteads, business opportunities, etc.

You Will Never Have a Better Opportunity of making an inexpensive and enjoyable trip to this wonderful state, learning of its opportunities and seeing the phenomenal yield of all products this year. You can own a farm in Montana for the same outlay you are now spending on a mere rental basis in your present location—Montana land yields double per acre that of Middle West land—proved by U. S. Government reports.

3,000,000 acres of Free Homesteads

10,000,000 acres of splendid land at $15 to $45 per acre

30,000 acres of extremely fertile land on crop payment plan

Arrange to join this party and ask your neighbor to go with you. Special low fare round trip homeseekers' tickets, limited to 25 days for return and permitting stopovers will be on sale on this date. There is through coach, tourist and sleeping car accommodations on "The Columbian."

Write us as soon as possible how many there will be in your party and what accommodations are desired.

POLITICAL RALLY
HELD AT BANGOR

Professor Benezet Gives Political History of Woodrow Wilson at Big Meeting

COFFLAND HITS MCGOVERN

Attacks Governor but Forgets Karel; Wolfe Criticizes High Tariff on Lumber

(By a Staff Correspondent)
Professor L. P. Benezet opened the first political rally of the campaign at Bangor last night with a convincing portrayal of the political life of Woodrow Wilson in which he declared that the democratic nominee for the presidency was introduced into New Jersey politics as a figure-head to be used by the corporation political bosses. Following his address, W. N. Coffland, Viroqua, democratic candidate for congress
from the Seventh congressional district and Attorney W. F. Wolfe, La Crosse, addressed the large audience on national and state legislative politics. All avoided the Karel-McGovern issue.

Professor Benezet opened his address with the declaration that New Jersey was formerly the most corporation ridden state in the union, owing to lax corporation laws which tolerated any kind of monopoly and all kinds of business methods; that both parties were controlled entirely by corporation bosses and that Woodrow Wilson is responsible for the cleaning up of New Jersey politics.

Picked by Boss
He said: "Woodrow Wilson was picked as a candidate for governor by Jim Smith, one of the strongest corporation bosses in the state, because he believed that Wilson knew nothing of politics, would be entirely occupied by study and would be easily controlled."

"Upon the election of Wilson, the corporation bosses found that they were dealing with an iron man who was thoroughly posted on all questions pertaining to politics. The first attempt to use Wilson resulted in a clash between him and the bosses which finally resulted in the expulsion of the latter from political power in New Jersey. Wilson had beaten them at their own game."

In drawing a comparison of the presidential candidates Professor Benezet said: "If Taft is elected he will be surrounded and influenced by such men as William Barnes, Guggeheim and Senator Page of Vermont. If Roosevelt is elected such men as William Flynn of Pittsburg, Archbold of the Standard Oil company and Perkins of the International Harvester company will influence him, but if Wilson is elected how much influence will Murphy of the Tammany faction and men of his class have with the president? Wilson will surround himself with strong honest men of his own type."
"If Wilson is elected you will always be able to tell where he stands on any question. You will never find him straddling the fence, or attempting to side step an issue."

Just before the democratic national convention in Baltimore, Bryan sent a telegram to all the prospective candidates asserting that Alton B. Parker must not be given the temporary chairmanship. All returned an evasive reply excepting Wilson. He alone gave a definite answer and assured Bryan of his support in the matter."

Coffland Speaks
W. N. Coffland lauded E. J. Kneen, county chairman and candidate for assemblyman from the second district. He declared that the people need such men as Kneen in the assembly to end the extravagant waste of money and high taxes which exist under the government by progressive republicans.

He criticized the action of McGovern in declaring for republican principles in order to procure the support of La Follette and then jumping to the Bull Moose party after La Follette had given him his support.

In speaking on national politics
Mr. Coffland said: "As far as I can see, Roosevelt and Taft are spending all their time in telling us that the other should not be elected president and I for one believe they are both right."

He took a strong stand on the tariff question declaring that the democrats will work for revision of the tariff downward if given power and criticizing the stand taken by Taft in vetoing the wool tariff bill.

In speaking of John J. Esch, his opponent, Mr. Coffland said: "Esch is a man of high character and great ability but his record is not progressive."

Applaud Wolfe
Mr. Wolfe commended the efficient work accomplished by Professor Benezet in the La Crosse school system and later urged support of Mr.
Coffland at the November election.

At the close of nearly every sentence, Mr. Wolfe was interrupted with a round of applause by the audience.

Wolfe centered his speech on an attack upon the lumber tariff and declared that lumbermen and their children in nearly every Wisconsin city are today riding around in $5-000 and $10,000 automobiles while the men that earned the money by hard labor haven't enough to support their families decently.

He said in part: "Lumbermen put forth the plea that a high tariff must be maintained to permit a bottom wage for the laborer. High tariff legislation prevailed but instead of it resulting in better wages for

He also criticized the accumulation of large fortunes at the expense of the laborer and the donation of it to communities that do not need
it. He declared that instead of giving money to cities for libraries, it would be fairer to divide it among the men who had earned it, in the form of higher wages.

In summarizing the presidential situation he said that Roosevelt had failed to accomplish anything in seven years, that Taft is too weak and that Wilson is the only hope of the people. He closed by urging voters to support Richard Davis, Bangor, candidate for the state senatorship.

LOCAL ELKS SEE
WINONA MINSTREL

Delegation of Forty Goes Up-river and Is Entertained After Show
Is Over

The La Crosse delegation was unanimous in its opinion that the Winona show was the best effort of the Shepards up to the present time.
They enjoyed the show to the full,
and also the entertainment provided for their benefit afterwards by the Winona lodge.

Winona Elks provided a supper and a number of other features
following the minstrels to entertain the La Crosse delegation. They also declared their intention of coming to La Crosse when the Gateway city lodge puts on its show.

Holly Shepard today declared that there is no question that the minstrels this year will surpass anything that the La Crosse Elks have ever put on. He bases this prediction on the experience of the local people in productions of this kind, and the abundance of first-class talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Holly Shepard, who have been engaged by the local Elks to put on a minstrel show, arrived in La Crosse today from Winona. The Winona Elks last night staged a minstrel show under the direction of the Shepards, which was a great success.
About forty local Elks and their friends went to Winona last night to witness the show.

The first rehearsal for the La Crosse Elks' minstrels will be held this evening in the club rooms, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs.
Shepard.

DYNAMITE DEFENSE TO PLACE
BURDEN OF CHARGES UP-

M'NAMARA

FEDERAL COURT ROOM, IN-DIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9.—The defense in the dynamite conspiracy cases will throw the burden of the prosecution on Ortie E. McManigal, confessed dynamiter and informer whose admissions brought about the indictment of the forty-five ironworkers

now on trial.

Newt Harding, chief counsel for the defense in his statement today,

said: "The indictment charges the illegal transportation of dynamite, and we will show you that if dynamite were transported it was done by Mc-Manigal and the McNamaras, without the knowledge of a single one of these defendants."

Harding closed after less than two hours of statement and was followed by individual attorneys who spoke briefly for their clients.

It was apparent that the taking of testimony would be reached this afternoon.

SPOTLIGHTS

"READY MONEY"

H. H. Frazee's production of "Ready Money" from the pen of the versatile author, James Montgomery, which received its premiere in Chicago last spring, will be the attraction at La Crosse theater Saturday, October 12, matinee and night, and all who enjoy rapid moving comedy, spiced with clever dialogue and permeated with dramatic situations that carry with them just a little thrill, will find more than their money's worth in "Ready Money."

"Ready Money" was built for laughing purposes only, but withstanding that there are a few very good worldly lessons to be garnered from it.

With this basis, Mr. James Montgomery has constructed a bright and breezy comedy that keeps the audience in a state of hilarious merriment during three acts, only interrupting at times to hold them almost breathless with some tense dramatic surprise. And with a shrewdness hardly creditable, he has catered to the women with a little romance that is not sufficiently strong to over power the principal motive of the play, yet lends it a distinct and vivid charm.

"THE KISSING PRINCESS"

Miss Elsie Marlowe as skillful with her hands in self defense as with her nimble feet in the chorus of "The Kissing Princess," will be at the La Crosse theater Sunday, October 13, matinee and night.

Miss Marlowe, a member of "The Kissing Princess," the musical comedy which pleased so many at the Grand last night, teaches a young man a lesson he will not soon forget.

Miss Marlowe was a little late last evening in packing her trunk after the performance and nearly every one had left the theater when she was ready to go to her hotel, but as it was only a few blocks she decided to make the trip alone. She had hardly left the stage door when she was accosted by a young man standing on the curbstone. She paid no attention to him but hurried on her way to the hotel. The young man, not so easily put off, followed her and catching up with her, grabbed her by the arm. It was then that the "masher" received the surprise of his life, for Miss Marlowe has been an ardent student of jiu jitsu and from the looks of him this morning, his pal says he must have gotten acquainted with a Kansas cyclone. Miss Marlowe did not prefer any charges against him as she said she thought he had been punished enough. Miss Marlowe comes to La Crosse theater with "The Kissing Princess."

SOUSA'S BAND

John Philip Sousa will be here with his famous band at La Crosse theater on Tuesday, October 15, matinee only, at 2:30. Such an announcement has been made and welcomed in hundreds of cities all over the world, and has been read with pleasant anticipation by thousands—even millions—of people. Some who read it now may never have heard Sousa and his band, and will be glad of this opportunity to hear it, while others who have attended a Sousa concert before will be interested in wondering what special treat will be offered here. "Sousa is, without doubt, the sanest of the bandmasters of the generation. He has eschewed the thousand and one meaningless and wholly theatrical mannerisms which are effected by so many leaders solely for the purpose of eliciting comment and attracting attention, and leads with an easy grace, yet with masterful precision which are a genuine pleasure to watch." This opinion was given by a writer in one of the large cities during the recent tour of the world by Sousa and his band.

Make Use of Scorched Timber.

The great forest fires which unfortunately occur almost every autumn leave vast quantities of "fire killed timber." This is now being used extensively for many purposes, being preferred in some cases to green timber. Fruit growers, for instance, are said to prefer it for packing boxes because it is almost odorless and does not impart an unnatural flavor to the fruit. Telephone poles and railway ties are also made to advantage from fire killed timber.

TRADE SCHOOLS FOR THE WORKERS

Industrial Branches in La Crosse Schools to Be Established Within a Few Days

TEACH BUSINESS METHODS

Chance to Learn Trade or Commercial Subjects; Practical Workers in Charge

Within the next few days an industrial school will be started in the public schools of the city for the benefit of the many boys and girls of the city who have not had the opportunity of continuing school. The industrial school was made compulsory for all cities in the state by the state legislature at its last session. The school aims to teach some useful trade or business to the working boy and girl thereby making them efficient in the business world. There are many children in the city who have had to drop out of school and secure permits to work in the factories and business establishments about the city. These children have not a sufficient education but their help is needed at home. The new law compels these children to attend this school at least five hours a week, their employers being also compelled to let all children under sixteen years of age off during the day time to attend the school.

Provide For Apprentices
The school will also provide for apprentices between sixteen and twenty-one years of age to attend the institute during the day also if they desire to continue their education while learning their trade.

For those children who are working on permits and have lost their jobs there will be a compulsory school for five hours every day until they have obtained another job. These students will specialize on some one trade and when they have attended long enough will be declared graduated in that line of work. The same applies to all students.

Free Night School

There will be a free night school for the many working students over sixteen who cannot attend during the day. The authorities have not decided what subjects will be taught in this night school because they do not know what the majority of those who will attend wish to take up. In all probability commercial subjects, English for foreigners, telegraphy and electrical work will be the main courses. The new law requires that English, civics and uses of safety devices on machinery be taught.

For the girls there will be classes in dress making, millinery and pattern making. Pattern making will also be taught the boys and manual training will be open to both boys and girls.

These industrial schools will be held in the public school buildings of the city wherever there are enough students to start the classes which are compulsory to all working people under twenty-one years of age.

Miss Gertrude L. Brandt, who is a graduate of the Bradley Polytechnic Institute of Peoria, Illinois, and who has taught household duties in the settlement district of Peoria, will be the lady director of this school and she will open some of her classes in the coming week.

Practical Man in Charge

Mr. Thomas G. Sutherland will be the male director of the school. He is a good man for the position as he was supervisor of the manual training department in the Hastings, Neb., schools and has been a pattern maker and foreman in a machine shop. This makes him a practical man as well as one versed in the theoretical side. These two instructors will work all of the time and special instructors will be hired from time to time as the occasion demands.

The law requires that the industrial board of education levy a tax which the city must assess to maintain the school. Any amount may be asked for up to one-half a mill. The local board has not asked for the limit as they have assessed the city for $6,000 for the first year. The state will refund to the city one-half of what it spends so at the end of the year $3,000 will be returned to the city. Many of the other cities of the state the average size of La Crosse are spending $10,000 which is much more than La Crosse can afford this year.

HOFWEBER PLACES BIG ORDER FOR CARS

Mr. P. Hofweber has returned from the Ford factory at Detroit where he placed an order for 125 Ford cars. This is the largest single order for automobiles ever placed by a dealer from this city. The "service-to-owners" feature of the business of Hofweber & Sons has not been overlooked. Enough extra Ford parts have been bought to build two complete cars, thus insuring to Ford owners the promptest and best of service.

Truth About Domestic Duties.

There is absolutely nothing in domestic duties themselves, or in any form of manual labor that develops the mind or elevates and broadens the character. The idea that every woman needs practical instruction in housekeeping as a part of her education is as absurd as would be the claim that every man needs to be taught in school to plant corn or milk a cow.—Mary Leal Harkness.

NEAR DEATH IN THRESHING MACHINE

BOWDEN, N. D., Oct. 9.—Austin Elde, a spike pitcher with a threshing outfit, fell from a load of bundles into the feeder Monday, saving himself from going into the cylinder and meeting death by grasping the top of the feeder and pulling himself clear of the band cutter.

No one saw him fall, and as he was suspended in this position the knives came so close to him that his clothing was cut to shreds.

TWO WOUNDED IN A FATAL QUARREL

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 9.—Robert Williams, colored, of Levine, N. D., was shot and fatally wounded by John Lattemore, also colored, in Fargo Monday night. Williams and Lattemore quarreled on Sunday and Monday night they met again. Williams fired at Lattemore, the bullet grazing his head. Lattemore then grappled with his assailant and during the encounter Williams was shot through the abdomen and died at a local hospital shortly afterward.

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—A nervous tone in the early trading in the wheat market was followed by a sharp rise in prices. The strength of the Liverpool market as a result of fighting on Turkey's frontier and scattering rains in the northwest were sustaining influences here.

Corn moved upward on a narrow margin, and was firm most of the day. Oats prices were inclined upward on slight changes.

Provisions ranged slightly higher.

HEARING IN BIG LIBEL SUIT HERE Alec Anderson, a farmer living near Gays Mills, who is being sued in the circuit court of Crawford county by District Attorney M. R. Munson of Prairie du Chien for $10,000 for alleged libel, will be examined before Judge John Brindley in county court next Saturday morning. The examination will be conducted by Attorneys McConnell and Schweizer for the prosecution, and Wolfe and Wolfe for the defense. Munson brought suit against Anderson about two weeks ago, alleging that Anderson had caused the publication of statements accusing Munson of malfeasance in office. The examination will be relative to the publication of the alleged statements. It was rumored in La Crosse today that Anderson will defend himself on the grounds that the statements are true.

DOERFLINGER'S

GOOD WEATHER FOR SECOND BIG GAME

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Boston out-did itself today in the matter of weather for the second game of the world's series.

That same fall tinge which was evident in the atmosphere around Coogan's bluff was even a little "nippier" up here, but it failed to freeze out over 1,000 boys and men and a half dozen women who slept against the fence last night in a long thin line in order to be on hand when the gates opened at 9 this morning.

The restless and fitful sleep of the night guard was disturbed along about 4 or 5 o'clock when less early birds arrived and arrayed themselves at the end of the line. By 8 o'clock the waiting crowd had increased to nearly 5,000 and when the gates opened it was estimated that fully 8,000 were on hand with more coming every second.

FRANKLIN TEAM BEATS HAMILTON

The Franklin school indoor baseball team beat the Hamilton school club yesterday by the count of 7 to 4 at Copeland Park. The Lincoln team forfeited a game to the Jefferson nine because they did not appear.

The Franklin and Jefferson and the Hamilton and Washburn teams will play tomorrow.

APORTA

SOX AND GIANTS ARE CONFIDENT

Both Boston and New York Eager for Second Big Game Today

RED SOX HAVE ADVANTAGE

Winning of the First Combat Means Much to Manager Stahl's Players

(By Grantland Rice.)

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—It's up to the main hinge of the old master after all. For the first time in Manhattan's post season history, Mathewson adorned the Giant bench instead of the Giant firing line. For the first time in Manhattan's post season history the Giants lost the jump game. Four times before, the big gun had blazed the trail for a Giant start. But yesterday he looked on and today he will try to retrieve what a younger generation tossed aside. When the gods go, the half gods arrive slowly. They may blaze in glory for half the distance, but the trail runs from start to finish and there is no resting place by the roadside for those who would finish wearing the laurel.

The grand old dope slipped through by an eyelash at the start. Joe Wood pitched and Boston won. But Smokey Joe, though a game exhibition, was doomed until his pals rushed suddenly to his aid and yanked him safely out of trouble. His next start must call for increased steadiness or almost sure trouble if the Giant pitching staff sticks to form.

There's a queer kink in the dope today—and here it is: In that hectic opener both clubs fought to an eyelash finish, neck and neck, back and back, until Wood's last shot hurtled in a gray-white streak by Crandall's bat and thudded into Cady's mitt.

Both teams have lost any fear of the other and both are more confident than they were at the start. Boston has carried this confidence all the time, and sees no reason to change her mood. And New York sees in the legion a team below the lashing power and general resourcefulness of the Mackian guard—the Benders, the Bakers and the other home run makers of a year ago. Yet the edge is with Boston to this extent: That the first game counts and while Tesreau is almost sure to pitch better ball, so is Joe Wood. Neither was at top form, although the Giant mastodon cut a brilliant streak across the first five rounds.

STABBED IN FIGHT OVER SCHOOLGIRL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9.—After a quarrel over a pretty little school girl, Frank Blesner, aged 11, 2229 Elm street, was stabbed in the right hip with a pen knife yesterday noon. Heinrich Fleishfresser, Twenty-first and Lloyd streets, a classmate, is charged with the crime.

Why You Sigh.

When anyone sighs unconsciously it means they have been taking short breaths and not drawing sufficient oxygen into the lungs. Finally, the lungs must have more oxygen, they are hungry for it, and so the lungs exert their right and actually force you to take in a great breath of air. This gives them the needed oxygen, and they can go on with their work for a while longer, when they will force another "sigh" which is in reality helping themselves to more oxygen in spite of yourself.

Vehicles in Burma.

The styles mostly used in Burma are two-wheeled dog cars and buggies with spoked seat or step behind. The tops to the buggies must have closed sides (hood shaped) and be capable of being turned back. All vehicles have rubber tires and are fitted with foot bells. Local made buggies sell on the average for $165, while those imported from India sell as high as $400.

His Labor Doubled.

Kostrov, a Russian poet, labored for years translating Homer's "Iliad" into his language and the highest offer he received for it was $35, which discouraged him so much that he threw the manuscript into the fire. Afterwards when he was famous in his own country he did the job all over again.

Truth Eternal.

All errors have only a time; after a hundred millions of objections, subtleties, sophisms, the smallest truth remains precisely what it was before. —Ancient Maxim.

Unappreciated.

"Miss Screecher is chuck full of music, isn't she?" "I guess she is. I've never heard any of it coming out yet."

There may be just as good fish in the sea as ever came out of it, but every girl expects to yank a goldfish from the sea of matrimony.

WILSON SAYS T. R. HAS TRUST VIEW

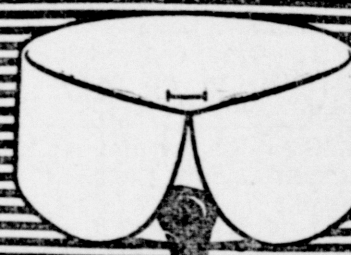

Declares Roosevelt Gets Ideas on Corporation Regulation from Steel Monopoly

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 9.—In reply to a question as to his attitude with reference to Colonel Roosevelt and the steel corporation, Governor Wilson today said: "I am not trying to put Mr. Roosevelt in a hole. I am simply trying to show that he has the viewpoint of the trusts and that we cannot afford to have a man for president of the United States who has that viewpoint. He gets his ideas with regard to the regulation of monopolies from the gentlemen of the United States steel corporation. He had a perfect right to get his ideas from them, but I want to say that their ideas are not my ideas and I am certain they would not promote any ideas which interfere with the monopoly of the United States steel corporation and, inasmuch as I hope and intend to interfere with monopoly, just as much as possible I cannot subscribe to these arrangements by which they know they will not be disturbed."

It was planned to have the governor speak twice here today at an outdoor meeting in the public square and at the state fair. After speaking in Kansas City last night the governor was hurried here on a special train and will leave for St. Louis at 2:25 this afternoon.

Japanned Ware.

Japanned ware should be washed with a sponge, dampened in warm water and dried immediately with a soft cloth, says an exchange. Obsolete spots can be quickly removed by rubbing with a woolen cloth dipped in sweet oil.

"SERVATOR" is a striking new style with an air of distinction. Gives plenty of room to show the tie. Preferred now by well-dressed men who favor the larger four-in-hands.

"EQUINOX," same collar one-fourth inch lower. Both made with the Patented "Lock-that-Locks" and "Easy-Tie-Slide" space. Of course they are

HIGHS PLAY THE TOMAH INDIANS

Seiler's Team to Meet the Indian Eleven at League Park on Saturday

The high school football team will meet the Tomah Indian school football team at League park next Saturday afternoon. This game promises to be an interesting one as it will give the local football fans an opportunity to get a line on what the result will be when the locals meet Sparta here on Thanksgiving day.

The Sparta team defeated the Indians several weeks ago by a score of 56 to 0. They also said that the Indians are weaker this year than last year, so the locals figure that they will be able to do as well.

The lineup used in last Saturday's game against the normals will in all probability be used in this game as it worked the best of any used yet this season. McCahan and Dickens in the tackle positions are a world of strength in the high line and brace it up making it stronger than last year's heavy line. Wiebrecht and Garder at half back are two sure ground gainers and Marshall at full can always be depended on to make the necessary number of yards to make it first down.

Strum showed his ability at quarterback last Saturday as he had his opponents going all the time to know what to expect next. He promises to do equally well in the big games yet to come.

PLANK'S PITCHING BEATS PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—The second game of the series for the city championship was pulled down by the Athletics by a score of 6 to 1. Plank pitched a steady game giving the National leaguers no chance to steal base or connect with his delivery. A large crowd witnessed the game, and there were many friendly quarrels among the fans of each side over each and every decision. Score: R H E Athletics . . . 002020002—6 12 2 Phillies . . . 000000100—1 6 6 Batteries: Plank and Lapp; Eaton, Brennan and Killifer.

RAIN MAY STOP CUBS AND SOX

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Prospects for starting the Chicago city series which was postponed from yesterday were poor today. Almost constant rain last night and the prospect of further heavy rainfall today made the possibility of playing less likely.

Personal Investigation.

An old woman walked into a bank in Inverness, threw down her deposit-book, and said she wished to draw all her money. Having got it, she retired to a corner of the room and counted it. She then marched up to the teller, and exclaimed: "Ay, that'll do, ma man; jist pit it back again. I only wanted to see if it was a' richt."—Dundee News.

Enormous Water Power Available.

"Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle."

Genius has been defined as the capacity for taking infinite pains.

As the master mind of the sculptor hews out of solid marble a new creation—so does the master designer and cutter work with fabric.

His must be the eye of the genius, taking in every detail at every glance, so that the finished model will stand without an imperfection—correct before the Judgment of Fashion.

It requires the originality of a genius, the wisdom of a philosopher, the brains of an inventor and the tact of a diplomatist to make success in the clothing business.

And, without boasting, to say that we have made a success would be putting it mildly; but that success is only due to the Quality we offer and to the Value we give.
